SAYS SENATE UNDER HARDING THUMB

SOX FREED; BARRED FROM GAME

7 FOUND NOT GUILTY; JURY ACTS QUICKLY

First Ballot in Baseball Gambling Case Frees Sox Players; Throng Cheers Verdict

(By the Associated Press)

CHICAGO—The seven former Chicago White Sox players and the two alleged gamblers brought to trial in the baseball scandal case Wednesday stood legally clear of any connection with the alleged conspiracy in which the 1919 world series were alleged to have been thrown to Cincinnati, the jury Tuesday night having found them not guilty on the first ballot.

The defendants were:

Buck Weaver, third baseman.
Oscar Felsch, Milwaukee, outfielder.
Charles Risberg, shortstop.
Arnold Gandil, first baseman.
Claude Williams, pitcher.
Eddie Cicotte, pitcher.
Joe Jackson, outfielder.
All former White Sox players.
Carl Zork of St. Louis.
David Zelcer of Des Moines.

The verdict was returned shortly before midnight amidst a scene of wild cheering, whistling and yelling from 500 spectators.

Judge Friend's bailiffs vainly tried to establish order out of the pandemonium. With chairs overturned and hats thrown in the air as the spectators rushed to shake hands with the ball players and as the players rushed to grasp the hands of the jurors, Judge Friend finally motioned to his aids to let the demonstration go on and finally joined in by congratulating the defendants and telling the jury it had returned a just verdict.

While only nine of 18 persons indicted in the baseball inestigation were defendants when the case ended it is believd that the baseball scandal has been forever swept from the boards so far as the courts of Cook county are concerned. Bill Burns' case was dismissed in return for his evidence for the state and during the trial the cases of Ben and Louis Levi of Kokomo, Ind., were dropped. Abe Attell, Hal Chase, Fred McMullin, Rachel Brown of New York, J. J. Sullivan of Boston and Ben Franklin of St. Louis still are under indictment but it was reported at the state's attorney's office Wednesday that their cases would be allowed to lapse through the statute of limitations.

The jury was not ready to return its verdict until 2 hours, 47 minutes after receiving the case but most of the time was taken in signing the verdicts. Each of the 12 men had to sign each of the nine verdicts, a separate verdict being returned for each defendant.

The acquitted players were jubilant Wednesday over their acquittal. Some of them expressed hopes that they would be reinstated in major league baseball quickly.

Joe Jackson, former star outfielder was the only one who declared that he was "through with organized baseball." The others said they would leave their baseball future in the hands of officials of organized baseball.

Of the players acquitted last night only "Buck" Weaver, former third baseman of the Chicago White Sox and "Swede" Risberg, former shortstop, indicated an immediate intention to apply for reinstatement.

Joe Jackson, said he was through with baseball and would devote his time to a store he has opened here.

"Chick" Gandil, bade adieu to the American League in a picturesque and forceful farewell to Ban Johnson, president of organized baseball.

"Lefty" Williams, pitcher said he would play semi-pro ball.

"Eddie" Cicotte famous "shine ball" hurler said he talked once in the criminal courts building and would not dare to so again, and "Hap" Felsch, centerfielder, reiterated his innocence but announced no plans.

Weaver's attorney, Thomas Nash, announced he was going to put Weaver back in organized base ball, and Risberg indicated a desire to return to major league diamonds but said he would leave his future in organized baseball in the hands of officials.

Barbara Tennant will be seen in support of Johnny Walker and Edna Murphy in "The Drifter."

FREED SOX BARRED FROM BASEBALL BY JUDGE K. M. LANDIS

None of American League Players Acquitted Has Immediate Prospect of Going Back

(By the Associated Press)

CHICAGO — None of the American League players who were acquitted Tuesday night of an alleged criminal conspiracy to throw the 1919 world series has any immediate prospect of being restored to organized baseball, according to a statement issued Wednesday by Judge Landis, national baseball commissioner.

"Regardless of the verdict of the jury," said the statement, "no player that throws a ball game, no player that entertains proposals or promises to throw a game, no player that sits in a conference with a bunch of crooked players and gamblers where the ways and means of throwing games are discussed, and does not promptly tell his club about it will ever play professional baseball."

"Of course I do not know that any of these men will apply for reinstatement but if they do, they are at least a few of the rules that will be enforce.

"Just keep it in mind that regardless of the verdict of juries, baseball is entirely competent to protect itself against the crooks both inside and outside the game."

RUSSIANS BURN THEIR VILLAGES

Report Hunger Stricken Inhabitants Flee to New Districts

(By the Associated Press)

LONDON— Hunger stricken people in the famine districts of Russia are setting fire to their villages before deserting them for other parts of Russia, according to a Helsingfors dispatch quoting reports received there from the interior of Russia. Many villages are said to be in flames.

It was reported that great preparations were being made to deal with the masses of peasants now moving toward Moscow. Many trenches have been dug about the city and much war material has been installed, the reports said.

Other telegrams reported that the Petrograd garrison had mutinied again.

M. Chitcherin is said to have declared "that the foreign capitalistic press is wildly exaggerating the facts to suit its own purpose."

"There is great misery in the stricken districts," the newspaper quotes the dispatch as saying, "but some of the frightful tales circulated throughout western Europe emanate from the imagination of journalists and should be received with reserve."

The Petrograd region is declared not to have been seriously affected by the famine.

ITALY MOURNS CARUSO DEATH

Thousands Gather in Naples at Last Rites for Famous Singer

(By the Associated Press)

NAPLES— Sorrowing Naples and Italy Wednesday paid tribute to the memory of Enrico Caruso, the great tenor who died here Tuesday. Thousands gathered at a solemn requiem mass celebrated at the church of Madonna Della Gracia, or stood uncovered along the streets leading to that edifice while the funeral cortege passed.

In the choir which assisted in the impressive ceremonies were many men and women who have played stellar roles on the operatic stage. Neapolitans of every class stood in line for many hours to file past the bier of Caruso which was placed in the room where he had died. At the dead tenor's side were garlands of roses arranged personally by Mrs. Caruso.

The master singer who had for nearly a quarter of a century enacted roles in which death was an unseen player, apparently was cognizant of his critical condition following his sudden illness Monday. Just before he sank into the coma which was the prelude to the end he said to his son Rodolfo:

"I feel very ill; this time it will be difficult to escape."

Caruso according to estimates in the newspapers left a fortune of about 30,000,000 lire. (At the normal value of lire this would represent about the sum of $6,000,000).

At the present rate of exchange it would be equivalent to $1,263,000.

ASSAULT ON DRY LAW TO FAIL, BELIEF

Believe Morgan Will Refuse to Start Action Before High Court On Legality of Act

Atty. Gen. William Morgan will refuse to start action before the Supreme Court in the name of the state, to have the Severson prohibition law declared unconstitutional, as petitioned by Milwaukee saloonkeepers, it can be said with assurance. The formal petition of 500 property holders will be presented to the attorney general Friday, according to their counsel.

"The constitutionality of Chapter 441 of the laws of 1921 on the ground that section 30 relating to standing bars, screens, etc., is an invasion of constitutional rights has not heretofore been questioned," Atty. Gen. Morgan states in a letter to the attorney for the saloon men. "Manifestly it is the duty of the attorney-general to defend the constitution unless it clearly appears that the law is unconstitutional and that the interests of the people of the state can be best served by having it so declared."

As soon as the formal petition is presented which will probably be on Friday, he is ready to give his decision Mr. Morgan said Tuesday.

The next step on the part of those protesting the law will be to appear before the state supreme court and request privilege to start an original action to test the new statute.

Should this be unsuccessful, attempt would be made before the Milwaukee circuit court to secure an injunction restraining the prohibition commissioner from enforcing the law, counsel for the saloon interests say.

The basis for their contention will be that the section of the statute requiring alteration of bars is a deprivation of property without due process of law. Claim will be made that $5,000,000 of property will become worthless by operation of the law.

Previous decisions of the attorney general holding general provisions of the law constitutional are taken as the basis for the general contention that a like ruling will be made in the section regarding bars.

The outcome of the whole controversy can scarcely be doubted, according to Prohibition Commissioner Smith, who expresses the opinion that the saloon-keepers of Milwaukee are simply setting up a smoke screen to head off application of the law, and intimidate some enforcement officers.

He is of the belief that the statute will be held constitutional throughout, and that its provisions will be generally enforced over the state. Reports coming from district attorneys tell of conformity with the law in most districts without opposition.

No calls for help by the commissioner's deputies have been received, which is an indication that there is little trouble over the state, Mr. Smith says.

WASHINGTON — American intervention in Haiti and Santo Domingo was described Wednesday as the "blackest chapter in American history in the Carribeans," by Oswald G. Villard of New York, urging a special senate investigation. He charged there "was no trouble in Haiti until we went there."

Immediate American withdrawal would be a disaster, Mr. Villard told the committee, but military occupation should terminate.

Mr. Villard said information had reached him from Haiti indicating that witnesses from that island would appear before the committee only under a guarantee protecting their lives against American officers and troops. The committee will begin its investigation Friday, hearing Mr. Villard and representatives of the navy department.

QUIZ WOMAN IN PROBE OF POISON CASE

Mrs. Demmer Admits Her Love for Kolze, Report; Issue Order to Open Colby Grave

(By the Associated Press)

CHICAGO—Further investigation into what Coroner Peter Hoffman has termed as a "series of murders", was being made Wednesday with resumption of the questioning by state's attorneys of Mrs. Mary Demmer, housekeeper for Fred Kolze, who died a few weeks ago.

The bodies of Kolze and of his wife, who died eight years ago, when exhumed showed traces of poison in the vital organs. The body of John Demmer, Mrs. Demmer's husband, was to be exhumed Wednesday at Colby, Wis.

Mrs. Demmer after long questioning by attorneys admitted her love for Kolze and admitted she had prepared food for the three persons prior to their deaths, it was stated, but denied poisoning them. She asserted she received $2,000 insurance when her husband died but derived no benefit for Kolze's death.

HITCHCOCK IN HOT ATTACK ON SENATE

Nebraska Member Declares Body is Following Dictates of President Harding

(By the Associated Press)

WASHINGTON — Assertion by Sen. Hitchcock, Dem., Neb., that President Harding had ordered the "slaughter," of the Norris agriculture export credit bill started a political clash in the senate Wednesday.

Republicans had criticized democrats on the Wilson administration for yielding to the "President's dictation" and now were following the same course Sen. Hitchcock said. He referred to President Harding's opposition to the soldier's bonus bill as well as the Norris bill and said the difference between the interference of Presidents Wilson and Harding were that Mr. Wilson took affirmative action for carrying out party pledges while Mr. Harding followed the course of "negative dictation" to defeat measures to which his party was pledged.

Sen. Kellogg, offered an unofficial substitute for the Norris bill said that apparently the democratic senators supporting the committee substitute also were yielding to dictation. He said Sen. Hitchcock was making "a political speech."

An agreement limiting speeches to 10 minutes was reached in the hope of a final vote Wednesday.

President Harding has informed senate Republican leaders, according to information Wednesday, of his opposition to early action on Sen. Borah's bill to restore the free tolls privilege to American coast-wise vessels using the Panama Canal. Mr. Harding was said to take the position that to avoid possible dispute with Great Britain and other nations the free tolls question should be deferred altogether until after the approaching disarmament conference as discussion of the question at this time might create obstacles to success of the conference.

The president also was represented as preferring settlement of the tolls resolution by diplomatic relations rather than by legislation.

Sen. Borah, is said however, to be disposed to press his toll bill within the next few weeks.

EMERGENCY BOARD OF WISCONSIN NOW PRACTICALLY DEAD

Duties of Body Which Last Year Granted Big Sums Have About Ceased

The emergency board, which last year granted hundreds of thousands of dollars to Wisconsin departments and institutions from money in the general fund, is now practically defunct. Its duties largely ended with the last legislature when it authorized appropriations sufficient to care for the needs of the state.

The governor, state treasurer, and secretary of state, who make up the board, have met within recent months only to pass on requisitions for automobiles. They are of the opinion that no further meetings to grant large sums to departments will be held during the biennium.

It was following the war period that this board sprang into prominence as a small legislature authorizing appropriations that reached nearly $1,000,000 in the case of the board of control. The past session of the legislature approved these acts by making good the debts incurred.

Appropriations of the past legislature were generally acceptable to the departments, and with prices falling rather than rising, it is believed that the board will exist only in name for two years at least.

Says Grain Prospect in Wheat States is Poor

J. E. Kernan, chairman of the grain and warehouse commission of Wisconsin, who has just completed a trip through the spring wheat state, including the best parts of Montana, declares that government crop estimates of July 1 will fall far short of being realized. Instead of 80,000,000 bushels of spring wheat in North Dakota, he looks for not over 65,000,000; and in Minnesota he would figure several million short of the government's 35,000,000. In Montana, he looks for a possible crop of 25,000,000 bushels. Dry weather has rushed grain to maturity too fast, Mr. Kernan declared; black rust is already destroying many fields; while the Red River valley has already been nearly ruined in large sections. He found good rye in sections, but oats and wheat generally light.

IS MAN LESS VALUE THAN GUINIA PIG? NEED VIVESECTION

Naturalist Declares All Humanity Relies On Experiment On Animals

By WILLIAM GARNER BURGIN

Were it not for the fact that an indiscriminating public is likely to be misled by their activities, the anti-vivisectionists could best be treated with indifference and silent contempt. But the susceptibility of the public to an erroneous impression, and the consequent detriment to the advance of medical science and surgery, make it imperative that their fallacious contentions be denied and their ill-directed activity discredited.

In an attempt to do this, Ernest Harold Baynes, field naturalist of Meriden, N. H., whom John Burroughs characterized as a "sane and accurate naturalist", has contributed an article to a recent issue of the Woman's Home Companion. Mr. Baynes has been a life-long lover of animals and in any sensible crusade in their behalf he would be the first to enlist. But in this case he speaks out vigorously against the hue and cry about the cruelty of vivi-section, and justifies the practice in the interest of humanity. His article is a careful refutation of the claims of the anti-vivisectionists, and reveals not only their falsity but their unfairness as well. For example, he cites the fact that certain of the leading so-called "authorities" who oppose vivi-section are no authorities at all, and that many of them, whose testimony the Anti-vivisection society sets great store by, were of a period antedating our own by several generations,—one having been born as long as one hundred and sixty years ago! Yet a perusal of their publications gives the impression that these eminent "authorities" are of the present day, conversant with all the methods and purposes of modern experimentation with animals. Many of them lived before the discovery of anesthetics, and their opposition would doubtless not have stood in the face of that great discovery.

It may not be denied that in some cases where animals are experimented upon, suffering is inflicted,—but it is infinitesmal in comparisan with the human suffering which is thereby relieved. Anesthesia is used in all cases except those in which its use would nullify the experiment, and medical men, as a rule, show the greatest tenderness and consideration for the animals under their care. It is a gross injustice to the members of the medical profession to impute to them the inhumanness the anti-vivisectionists charge. No scientist takes delight in causing an animal pain, but a consideration of human welfare and human happiness may lead even the most tender-hearted to consent to do so.

The Mayo brothers in Rochester maintain a dog farm where dogs are raised for experimentation in their laboratories. As a single result of such experimentation, they have been enabled to perform a very delicate operation on the human being,—thus successfully combating a disease which here-to-fore has cost many thousands of lives. Already more than 100,000 lives have been saved by this one operation alone, and many other thousands yet unborn will benefit by it. Who would deny the Mayos the right to experiment with dogs as a means of saving men.

It is certain that a group of people hostile to the medical profession is back of the movement to suppress vivisection. Many of them actually preach the doctrine of the non-existence of disease and deny the possibility of human pain. Their activity in behalf of the animals seems, therefore, paradoxical. The freedom of scientists and medical men to experiment on animals should in no way be restricted. It is a choice between maudlin sentimentality and humanitarian science,—and the latter should prevail. It is a case of guinea pig versus man, and those who believe in the fundamental Christian principle of the sacredness of human life will not hesitate in their choice.

Comiskey Through With Ex-Players, He Declares Today

(By the Associated Press)

CHICAGO—Charles A. Comiskey, owner of the Chicago White Sox, declared Wednesday that the verdict freeing his former players of conspiracy charges to throw the 1919 world's series did not change his stand and that until they "cleared themselves" to his satisfaction he would have nothing to do with them.

"Cicotte confessed he was guilty and implicated others," Comiskey said. "We had three confessions and they have not been accounted for. They implicated themselves and until they can offer a good excuse we will have nothing to do with them." Judge Charles A. McDonald, to whom several "Black Sox" confessions were made, refused to talk about the out-come of the trial.

Hirst Meets Nine Engineers in Conference; Continues Here Today

The state highway commission and nine divisional engineers were in conference with A. R. Hirst, chief highway engineer Tuesday to consider reorganization plans. At the close of their session it was announced that no account of their decisions would be given out for the present.

It is known that the whole problem facing the state highway system was gone over. Reduction of the force of supervisional engineers, withdrawal of geological parties, and suspension of research work was given consideration.

One of the most important matters before the group was that of retention of the present principal officials in the highway movement. Several of the present leading engineers who have been instrumental in developing the Wisconsin highway organization are considering offers from other states at salaries not approached here. The commission is called on to consider their case.

It is largely a question of holding together the Wisconsin organization that is being considered by the commission as a result of the problem placed before it Tuesday. Meeting is being held again Wednesday by the division engineers with Mr. Hirst to talk over the situation.

Last year there was no limit places upon the attendance, but the expense entailed in conducting the school makes it necessary, it is sai, to limit the attendance.

IRISH DELAY REPLY; WAIT FOR ULSTER

Attempt to Secure Adhesion of Ulster Before Making Answer to British Proposals

(By the Associated Press)

DUBLIN—The sole reason for the delay in the Sinn Fein's reply to the government's Irish peace proposals it is authoritatively stated, is the attempt being made to secure the adhesion of Ulster to the peace plan before returning the negotiations with premier Lloyd George so be could be met by a United Ireland.

Every effort is being made to induce Ulster to share in this agreement to make an all Ireland parliament while retaining her own local autonomy. So far these efforts, although benevolently regarded by the government have been unsuccessful. The expectance of an arrangement with Ulster has not yet been abandoned, however.

RESERVE BOARD IS FAVORING EASTERN BANKS, IS CHARGE

John S. Williams, Former Comptroller of Currency, Hits Favoritism Policy

(By the Associated Press)

WASHINGTON — John Skelton Williams, former comptroller of the currency, appeared Tuesday before a joint congressional committee considering agricultural problems to criticize the administration of the federal reserve banks. Governor Harding of the federal reserve board sat in the audience. "I did not agree with the policy of the reserve board in indiscriminately raising interest rates in 1919," Mr. Williams said, "nor did I agree with it previously in a policy of making prodigal advances to institutions in the east to the disadvantages of the west. I found that the board in 1919 was advancing directly and indirectly a total sum of $130,000,000 to a single institution in New York City."

Mr. Williams read statistics which he said showed New York, Chicago and other city banks were getting more than all the country banks at that period. Mr. Mills asked that he present 1921 figures too and Mr. Williams promised to do so.

APPRENTICESHIP LIST GROWING

Business Depression Fails to Reduce Number of Applications

Apprenticeship in Wisconsin is progressing despite business depression of the past year, the Industrial commission announces in a statement Wednesday. During the year ending June 30, it says that 40 new employers took on apprentices.

The year also resulted in 511 boys being indentured, as compared to 247 in 1919, while 180 were granted certificates of apprenticeship on the completion of their indentures.

At the present time, the commission says that there is no difficulty in finding boys desirous of becoming apprentices in skilled trades, a large number having already registered.

Several of Worthington's alleged accomplices have fled for the far west, Mr. Clinnin said.

Dithmar Testifies in Baraboo Chief's Case

BARABOO, Wis.—After more than a dozen citizens of Baraboo, including Former Lieut.-Gov. E. F. Dithmar and Ex-mayor G. T. Thuerer, had testified of cases in which Chief of Police S. A. Pelton had failed to perform the duty of his office, the hearing before the police commission in which the formal dismissal of Pelton is asked, was adjourned to Aug. 8. Chief of Police Curry of Portage will be asked to testify against Mr. Pelton.

The matter grew out of the failure of Mr. Pelton to act when the First National bank received a black mail note from Daniel H. Rivers, whom Judge E. Ray Stevens of Madison later sentenced to two years in Waupun. The note demanded the bank to turn over $63,000 in cash. Pelton was notified, according to the testimony of E. S. Johnston, cashier of the bank, but treated the matter as a joke. Charges of misconduct toward women, failure to put stop to drinking in the city and neglect to make arrests when violations were brought to his attention were made at the hearing. Judge H. L. Halsted declared that Pelton had brought only six or seven cases into his court during the 11 years in which he served as police chief.

SWEET YOUNG THINGS STILL PUFF ON VILE PILL, DEALERS AVER

No Let Up by Feminine Smokers Here; Cute Holders Latest Fancy

Women are not easing up on cigarettes. This is the concensus of opinion of the tobacco dealers in Madison. It is seldom that a girl or woman enters a billiard parlor or tobacco store to buy cigarettes. They choose rather to buy from a news stand, especially where a girl is in charge of the counter. The Park hotel and the Capitol stands are good examples.

"Are women easing up on cigarettes?" queried a reporter, approaching the clerk in charge of the news stand in the Park hotel.

"Not that I have been able to notice," was the quick reply.

"And do many women buy their own?"

"No, they do not. They send the bell-boy down after them, or their husbands or sweethearts do the purchasing. We can be sure of this because the average woman who enjoys smoking requires milder cigarettes. They buy the more expensive brands."

When the fad of feminine cigarette smokers was started some years ago the sages predicted that this would not last. Others affirmed that the habit would be ever dear to the feminine heart. Recently there has been a rumor that the fad is fast passing. Cigar stores as well as drug stores in Madison refute this rumor.

"Women smoke just as much as ever but not many step in to buy their own. Those who do are usually the vaudeville type who feel no embarassment in asking for their favorite cork tips," said another clerk.

Many a sweet young thing puffs away on the fascinating nicotine pill just because she has just purchased the "cutest cigarette holder." Perhaps she doesn't really like the taste but the other women have their jade or especially made cigarette holders and so must she, whether she enjoys the smoking or not. Jewelers insist on making these attractive holders and few women resist them.

"PRINCESS PAT" SURVIVOR HERE IN CHARGE OF EXHIBIT

Major Louis Lance Seeks Aid for Disabled Vets by Madison Exhibit

Maj. Louis Lance, one of the eight survivors of the famous "Princess Pat" regiment is in Madison, being in charge of a world war exhibit with the Wortham Shows. The exhibit, which is one of the most compete of its kind on the road, is operated entirely by and for ex-service men from government hospitals and is a private enterprise, not being owned by the carnival people.

With the major, besides his "doughboy" helpers are Lt. Col. Victor Peralta, a Frenchman who served in the famous foreign legion, and Mrs. Lance, who drove an ambulance in the French army, having been severely gassed and twice wounded.

Maj. Lance is from South Dakota but early in the war enlisted in the Canadian army and was transferred to the renowned British regiment, fighting through all the important engagements of the first three years of the war. He has been wounded several times and wears three decorations.

RYAN TO MAKE PHONE REPORT

Will Advise City on Suit Against Telephone Co. On Aug. 12

When the common council meets Aug. 12, City Atty. Ryan will submit a report of his investigation of the findings of the railroad rate commission in granting the Wisconsin Telephone Co. an increase of rates which took effect Aug. 1. The council at its last meeting authorized Mr. Ryan to study the report with a view to preventing the increase becoming effective.

According to aldermen there is considerable complaint by residents of Madison because they feel that the rates should not be raised here. They argue that Madison has more telephones per 1,000 population than any city in the U. S. The increase is as much as 100 per cent in some cases, it is said. Mr. Ryan said today that the city can ask the circuit court to review the decision of the commission, but that court is limited in its powers and cannot reverse the order unless it can show that the rates are "unreasonable." Mr. Ryan points out that petitions circulated by the telephone company showing that an increase was necessary was signed by about 1,100 Madison business men.

Repeal of transportation taxes is another subject thought to have a wide difference of opinion.

Even Good Old Foot Rail In Bars Is Now Useless

Drinkers of non-intoxicating liquor in Wisconsin must stand far enough away from the bar to be unable to place their foot on the rail or to set the glass on the counter, in order to keep from violating an opinion of J. E. Messerschmidt, assistant attorney general, to M. J. Paul, district attorney of Green Lake county, holds.

The question of how far the drinker must get from the bar when he is consuming liquor so that the law is not violated, "reminds me of the story of the man who was about to hire a coachman, and put the question to each applicant as to how near he would drive to a precipice," the opinion said. "The applicant who said that he would stay as far away from it as possible got the job."

It is held further in the same opinion that bars located at right angles to the street which permit a view back of them from the outside, do not obstruct the view and need not be removed. "Until the court passes on this question it will not be definitely settled, however," it states.

Senate Body Hears Dye Embargo Bill

WASHINGTON — The embargo against dye imports stricken out of the tariff bill by the house was before the senate finance committee Wednesday with representives of the opposing views on the subject on hand to testify. Choate Jr., for the American Dyes Institute said, "we are just a little nearer the dogs than before," while those opposing the embargo contended dye manufacturers would have little difficulty meeting German competition.

Tobacco Notes

Thomas Earle was up from Edgerton yesterday, a visitor with H. W. Scott, representative of the Rose & Wobbe company, New York. Mr. Earle buys mostly stemming goods and is operating a couple of warehouses in Edgerton for that purpose.

Some 1920 goods have been delivered at Stoughton this week, raised in the vicinity, that was acquired by S. Grundy of Janesville at prices ranging from 8 to 10 cents a pound. The writer saw one of the crops brought in that was milldewed, wet and rotten in parts. It sold at 9 cents. For this crop the grower had refused 33 and 35 cents a pound last fall, then he became disgusted and permitted the weather to do all the damage it apparently could. Those who sold a good yield at 6 cents should feel humiliated, when reading this item. People smoke and chew and there is always a market for some weed, if not all of it at once.

The recent damp spell has done wonders for the growing crop, permitting the plant to develop not only in growth, but in weight of leaf and prospects are good for a satisfactory yield this year. Much depends on what price it bring whether tobacco will be raised in the future.

DETROIT—The necessity of establishing a candy clearing house to cope with the varying demands of the candy buying public is under consideration at the convention of National Jobbing Confectioners association. The jobbers explain that the public taste is far from being staple, as that one confection will be popular for a time, then another will suddenly "catch on." The clearing house would then re-distribute the unpopular brand to new territory.

Oldsmobil eFour Is Climbing All Big Hills

There is scarcely a hill of prominence in California that has not been conquered in high gear by the Oldsmobile "four". This program of consistently shattering performance records under the direction of J. W. Leavitt & Co., distributors of the Oldsmobile products, has focussed the attention of Pacific Coast motordom on this sensational addition to a line of pioneer automobiles.

So unusual has been the hill climbing prowess of the Oldsmobile that many persons, called at the Oldsmobile salesrooms to pronounce their disapproval of such business tactics. A demonstration ride set the objectors praising the hill climbing qualities of the fast-going four. Some people have ridiculed the so-called stunts in automobile sales promotion work; but the best evidence of their value (when they are bona fide performances) is to be gained by a glance at the sales sheet. There is no question in the minds of aggressive California motor car merchants that stunts are sales producers, but they must be stunts that show real performance, ability on the part of the car; running abilities that can be utilized by the individual owner when he takes a turn at the wheel. Oldsmobile is going big in California, because the car can make good the promises of one of the livest organizations in the entire west.

DES MOINES, Ia.—Des Moines street cars will stop at midnight in accordance with an order issued by federal judge M. J. Wade. A complete system of bus transportation will begin functioning on every line in the city. The suspension of street car service in Des Moines is the culmination of a struggle of years. The company has been in the hands of receivers for years and it was at the request of receivers that the court isued the order to stop service.

Their uniform courtesy to the visitor made a good impression.

Monk Chooses Dog For His "Buddie"

Two Poses of Congo and Canine Playmate

John Patterson, boss of the gigantic animal family that has been formed by consolidating the most unusual menagerie feature of America's two most famous circuses, can spin many a yarn regarding strange friendships. He recalls a mean-tempered lioness who mothered a pet kitten. Friendships between elephanth and the talented performing dogs happen most every season. Now a sudden and unexplainable friendship has sprung up between 'Congo," a big orang-outang, and "Fluff," an orphaned spaniel pup. "Congo's" trainer took the puppy under his wing, and in less than a week "Congo" had learned to feed the dog from a milk bottle. Friendship ripened and soon the orang-outang insisted that "Fluff" share his apartment at all hours of the day and night. By chance you may see the dog and monkey playing together in the cage when Ringling Brothers and Barnum & Bailey Combined exhibits here Tuesday, August 16.

VETERAN BILL PASSES HOUSE

Conference Report On Sweet Measure Adopted 264 to 4

WASHINGTON, D. C.—The long fight for legislation to end the nation's neglect of its disabled veterans won a victory Tuesday when congress put the final stamp of its approval on the Sweet bill.

By 264 to 4 the house agreed to the conference report on the measure, following the example set by the senate. The bill will become a law as soon as the president signs it. An effort will be made to have it sent to him at Mount Prospect, N. H., so that he can sign it without waiting for the return to the White House.

A provision of the Sweet bill establishes a veterans' bureau, headed by a director responsible directly to the President. It calls for transfer of hospitalization work now in the hands of the public health service to the veterans' bureau, along with the vocational training of ex-service men.

The treasury department will no longer have any jurisdiction over the care and treatment of the disabled veterans. Only President Harding will direct the veterans' bureau.

Billy Whiskers

By Frances Montgomery

You remember yesterday a pack ... hounds attacked the two Billy ...ats. Now Billy hated hounds ...se than any other kind of dog, ... when a yelping, big-mouthed, ...g-eared one tried to fight him, ...quickly tossed him into a tree, ...ere he hung for several minutes, ...ende a bough. When he fell ...m the tree he made a bee-line ...r home with his tail between his ...s, howling as he went. As he ... the leader, the others tried to ...w, but they did not get away ... the two Billies had hooked and ...ked five or six of them.

...he last hound was disappearing ... the bushes when the hunters ...e out of the woods, surprised to ...e that two goats had put to flight ... dogs.

"Did you ever see two such big ... in your life?" asked one of ... men. "I don't wonder the dogs ... for a dog is no match for a ...t in a fight."

"I never did. I think they are ...ese two prize goats of Mr. Wat...n's. You know they have taken ... prize at all the county fairs ...round here for size and strength."

"Hitched up to a little wagon, ...ey would certainly make a fine ...oking team for some little boy or ...l—one is so white and the other ... so black."

With another look at the beauti...l pair of goats, the men rode ...ay and Billy Junior and his ...er completed their plans. Billy ...nior was to search the west side ... the town and its outskirts, and ...lly Junior was to take the east ...e.

If either one found the kids he ...s to go to the fountain in the ...ddle of the town and stand there ...d baa until the other answered. ...t twelve o'clock—midnight—they ...re to report there whether they ...d found the children or not, and ...l what had befallen them.

Just as they were about to sepa...ate Billy Senior said:

"I do hope that those hounds we have just put to flight will not come near the children, for if they do they will frighten the little things to death. Even if they did not hurt them, they might snap at them just for fun."

"Well, good-bye, father, and good luck to us. Don't forget, twelve o'clock at the fountain. Either of us failing to appear will mean that we are prisoners and can't come. Then it will be the double duty of the other to release him as well as find the twins."

(Tomorrow will tell the adventures of the two rescuers.)

HEART and HOME PROBLEMS

By MRS. ELIZABETH THOMPSON

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I have been going with a young man about three years my senior for over two years. During that time he has gone with different girls and I have gone with some other boys.

This young man seems to have a jealous disposition, because he gets somewhat "peeved" if I go with another fellow, but he thinks it ought to be all right for him to go with other girls once in a while.

He has always treated me with the highest respect, taking me wherever I desired to go. When he went with other girls he only called at their homes or took them riding.

At this time he comes to see me and takes me away at least three or four times a week. Do you think he really loves me SWEETIE.

The man likes you very much, but he does not love you deeply. If he were really in love with you he would not be interested in any one else.

* * *

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a girl fourteen years old and always try to be kind and helpful to everyone, but for some unknown reason the boys always fall in love with me. I never let them kiss me or go out with me. I do not like this, for I like and try to be just a friend and chum. I like sports and I swim and ride a bicycle and drive a car.

The girls in my neighborhood dislike me for some reason and are jealous. I try to treat them in a friendly way, but they won't have it, and often throw slams my way in return. I never throw slams at them and I give them rides whenever I can. I am not self-conscious and am popular everywhere else.

I have many friends everywhere else and so I have decided not to mix in with these girls any more. My aim has always been to be kind and loving to all and treat everyone alike. I have found that these girls are considered low and have a spotted reputation, but I always overlooked that. Have I done right?

I want to do what is right and you may be sure your advice will be appreciated. HOPE H.

It is impossible to please everyone in the world. When you try your best and fail, you might just as well look elsewhere for close friends and consider those who do not like you as acquaintances only.

Perhaps in your effort to be helpful and lovable, you are on the wrong track. Try to get the other person's point of view and you may discover that your efforts are not really pleasing. "Do unto others as you would have others do unto you."

To decide that the others have "spotted reputations" because they are not interested in you is not a very generous attitude. Do not make such statements unless you can prove them.

* * *

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I have been going wtih a fellow who was very good to me in every respect, but now he won't speak to me. What the trouble is I don't know, as I was very kind to him.

I met another fellow with whom I have been going. He is very kind, but I don't like him nearly as well as the other. I don't know whether I should go back and ask the first fellow what he is angry about and try to make up or not. Please give me good advice. PEGGY.

It was very rude of the man to stop speaking to you. I would not advise you to ask him why he did it. Learn to forget him. Although you may not like the man with whom you are going now as well as you did the other, they are not the only men in the world and doubtless you will meet some one later for whom you will care more than either of these two.

AT THE THEATERS

AT THE MAJESTIC

"The Wild Goose," a dramatic Cosmopolitan-Paramount picture, is delighting large audiences at the Majestic theatre this week. It is a thrilling photoplay, dramatic and appealing. AT THE STRAND

Could you spend a million dollars in one year and come out at the end of that time flat broke, with no assets, and no wife to help you spend it? This is no easy task as Fatty Arbuckle, noted comedian, proves in his latest Paramount picture, "Brewster's Millions," which will be shown at the Strand Theatre for four days starting today. The picture is an adaptation of the idely read novel of the same title by George Barr McCutcheon, and the famous play by Melville Stone and Winchell Smith. Mr. Arbuckle plays the role of Monte Brewster, fatherless, with two wealthy grandfathers. Grandfather Brewster gives him one million dollars. Grandfather Ingraham comes back with a proposition to Monte that if he will spend Brewster's million in one year, he will give him five million in stock. From this grows one of the funniest and fastest plots that has ever been put on the screen. The added attractions will be a Pathe Review and Literary Digest's "Topics of the Day."

Fifteen movie stars will appear in stage dramas this winter. Fourteen others are going into vaudeville.

Ruth Must Make Homer Today—Or Slip

NEW YORK — Babe Ruth must make a home-run today or he will fall a day behind his 1920 program for the first time this season on August 2, 1920, he made his 38th homer and this year he equalled that total on August 1. Yesterday rain prevented him from trying to add another.

CARP THROUGH WITH RING IN U. S., REPORT

London Paper Says Frenchman Has Not Agreed to Meet Gibbons

LONDON — Georges Carpentier, the Daily Mail says, has not arranged to fight Tom Gibbons or any other man in the United States and it is doubtful if he will ever be seen in the ring in the United States again.

CHICAGO — Persistent reports that Georges Carpentier may not come back to the United States to fulfill his contract to box Tommy Gibbons are worrying local fistic fans who are planning to see the mill. Eddie Kane, manager of Gibbons, has been pestered with inquiries regarding the possibility of Georges flunking, but believes the Frenchman will be back and keep his word with Rickard. Gibbons is all set for the match. Kane left last night for the north woods to meet Gibbons and took with him Sammy Mandell, the Rockford bantam flash. Sammy plans to learn a few ring tricks from the veteran Tommy.

Joie Ray to Attempt Breaking Run Record

CHICAGO—When the Central A. A. U. outdoor track and field championships are held on Stagg field, Aug. 13, Joie Ray of the Illinois A. C., one of the greatest middle distance runners of recent years, will make a herculean attempt to break the world's one mile record. J. P. Jones, former Cornell university athlete, is credited with the world's record for the distance at 4.15 2-5. Following the national championships at Pasadena recently, Ray competed in an invitation meet at Berkeley, Cal., and won his mile race in 4:14 4-5. He finished 30 yards in advance of the field, and might have broken the record had he had the necessary competition.

HERMAN'S COMEBACK SPOILS OLD THEORY OF FIGHT DOPESTERS

List Pete With Stanley Ketchell and Jack Britton for Regaining Crown

By NORMAN E. BROWN

List Mr. Peter Herman New Orleans, with Stanley Ketchell, Jack Britton and perhaps one or two others who, in the history of pugilism, won back the championship after losing it.

Stanley Ketchell's feat in defeating Billy Papke after Bill had knocked him out to take away his title, is perhaps the most brilliant case on record of an ex-champion coming back. But Herman's feat was remarkable. It was a new and different Herman from the champ who outboxed, outhit and outgeneraled Josephus Lynch, his successor, the other night and thereby reclaimed the bantamweight title.

And now that Pete is champ again, will he be more of a king than he was his first time on the throne?

When Pete defeated Kid Williams in a twenty-round go in New Orleans January 9, 1917, and received the title via the referee's decision, much was expected of him. But he proceeded to play a careful, ducking, sure-thing game. He defended his title in real decision bouts or even against good men in short bouts but a few times. He went after the easy money. First result? The fans doubted his ability. Second result? They hungered for a real champ.

Then along came Joe Lynch. Herman was inveigled into a match with Joe and lost to him. Herman's showing was miserable. He showed little form. His judge of distance was faulty. He lacked the science a champ should have.

But the defeat apparently woke up the former bootblack. He began to fight. With nothing to lose and a lot to gain he trained hard and fought harder. Every one of his battles showed the result of this change of heart. Those who had remained loyal to him saw their faith rewarded.

He went to London and knocked out the British idol and clever fighter, Jimmy Wilde. The he took on Jimmy Higgins, British bantam sensation, and licked him. Then, a few weeks ago, he returned home with his heart set on a go with Lynch. Herman demanded and got little out of the bout. Lynch demanded $37,500, win, loso or draw, and got it. Herman took a chance on what was left.

Herman's form was a revelation to fans who hadn't seen him recently. Being short-armed and chubby, Herman is built for close-in, beating-down fighting. He showed more skill than ever at getting inside the long-armed Lynch's back and boxed the champion—and blows and punishing him. And then, at intervals, Peter stepped outpointed Lynch at that style.

Lynch, during his reign, fought many of the best boys and showed class. He wasn't, however, an outstanding star. There are several bantams who have wanted a crack at the title he held, among them Jack Wolfe, Carl Tremaine, Young Montreal and others. So Herman has his work cut out for him if he cares to show the fans that he can be a real champ. His activities will be watched with interest.

Herbert Brennon is to take a special production and then will direct Norma Talmadge in "The Voice from the Minaret."

WILLARD WILL ANSWER QUERY FROM RICKARD

Kansas Mauler Would Take 4 or 5 Months to Train On Coast

TOPEKA, Kas. — Jess Willard, who is received a telegram from Tex Rickard asking terms for a bout with Jack Dempsey, and will take the matter up with Rickard at once.

"Will wire my answer soon, but probably no definite terms will be named until we have had some negotiations back and forth," Willard said. "I will want four or five months for training. I am anxious to fight Dempsey, and Rickard is my choice for promoter. As to monetary terms, I am not ready to announce now what offer I will make Rickard.

"I probably will do some training at my home near Lawrence, in case I enter into a contract to fight Dempsey, and may do most of it on the coast—at Los Angeles probably. I have my Lawrence property on the market and expect to make my home in California if I sell."

Willard said he also would hire his former manager, Ray D. Archer, to open negotiations with Rickard, and indicated that Archer will act as his agent in drawing a contract for the proposed bout.

Jack Johnson to Meet Brennan Before Dempsey

PHILADELPHIA— Jack Johnson, who is here to appear at a local theater, says that he expects to fight Bill Brennan in September.

"This match with Brennan is still hanging fire," said the former heavyweight champion, "but everything is rosy and I don't anticipate any insurmountable obstacles. In fact, I think the little affair is as good as settled."

Jack didn't say where the fight would be held. He said, however, no arrangements had been made to stage it in Tex Rickard's arena at Boyle's Thirty Acres in Jersey City. The big fellow apparently regards the Brennan setto as a stepping stone to a match with Jack Dempsey, if the world's champion can be persuaded.

Roundy's DOPE

I received word from Clickner who battles Rinderlie here tomorrow night that he is working hard for the battle. He worked out all last week with Mattie Smith and Billy Krautz at Lempkes gym in Racine. He did not predict anything but just said that he was coming up to battle all the time.

It is up to the fans to help Monohan sell his tickets. I sold seven for him yesterday. Take it from me that the South Madison battler is in the pink of shape right now. Come on fans, buy the tickets of him or his friends that are selling them.

The Dummy is hoping that his man will not do a flop in the first round on him this time. He wants to battle, he says, all the time.

It is a popular price show and each man has his friends and there should be a large crowd there. There is no class on the card but it looks like a heluva lot of slugging coming off here Thursday night.

* * *

The men will weigh in at Abaly's billard parlors Thursday at 3 p. m. so lets see a large crowd at John's place at that time.

* * *

Jack Dempsey's idea of laying off till Labor day is perhaps a chance to give every one a chance to labor till he gets enough coin together to pay him his price for another battle.

MARKETS

WHEAT PRICES FIRMER TODAY

Continued Shrinkage of Rural Offering is Cause of Rise

CHICAGO — Wheat displayed some firmness Wednesday chiefly as a result of continued shrinkage of rural offerings. Export demand however, appeared to be lacking, general trade was light and the market easily influenced. Opening quotations which varied from half cent decline to 1 cent advance with Sept. 1.24½@1.25¼ and Dec. 1.28⅛@1.2.. were followed by slight general gains and then something of a reaction.

Subsequently prices took a decided downward swing because of a dearth of buying orders. The close was heavy ½ to 2c lower with Sept. 1.23¼@1.23½ and Dec. 1.26¼@1.26½.

Corn

Corn remained easy owing to the better supply of moisture. After opening unchanged to ⅛@⅝c lower including Sept. 59@¼ the market hardened a trifle and then sagged again.

Oats

Oats were strengthened by bullish estimates of yield. Prices opened unchanged to ⅛@¼ cent off. But then scored a general up turn.

Traders Concentrate Upon Rail Issues as Session Opens

NEW YORK—Traders bit up railroad shares again Wednesday at the outset in an effort to revive the flagging bull speculation elsewhere. Canadian Pacific, Soo Line, St. Louis and San Francisco pfd., advanced 1½ Great Northern and Norfolk and Western 1 and other representative issues substantial fractions.

Buying back of stocks became quite general in other portions of the list later with the oil, tobacco, gas, sugar, steel and motor groups rising half to two points. United Drug was again liquidated falling 2 points while alcohol lost half as much.

Weakness of special stocks proved too great a strain for the market to endure and prices fell off rapidly in the final hour. The close was heavy.

GRANDMOTHER SAYS:

If peeling either oranges or tomatoes, scald them a few minutes in hot water and then dash them into cold water to restore their firmness. Skins will come off easily then.

Among the many uses for sour milk is that of silver polish. Put the silverware in the liquid and let it remain for twenty or thirty minutes. Then wash as usual. It will look as if had been polished.

The Japanese sauce or catsup made from the black soy bean is excellent for flavoring gravies, soups, etc.

Put a bag over the head of the food chopper when grinding dry bread crumbs.

SUMMER DRINKS

Fruit Julep—Cook together one quart of fresh blackberries, one cup of sugar and one quart of water for half an hour and then strain. Add the juice of one orange and the juice of a lemon. Let this get cold and then add three glasses of ice-water or spring-water and one pint of raspberries, slightly crushed, and several sprigs of mint.

Ginger Punch—Cook a good handful of ginger-root, two cups of sugar and two quarts of water together. Let this simmer slowly for half an hour. Then remove the ginger-root, wash it, let it get thoroughly dry and put away to be used again. Add to the ginger-water the juice of an orange and a lemon. Let it get very cold and serve with a little ice in it.

Sugar Syrup—A sugar syrup is essential in all iced drinks if one wants to get the real fruit flavor and help save sugar—for unless a cold drink is allowed to stand for several hours before serving to allow the sugar to melt properly a great deal of sugar is wasted. It can be made by boiling two cups of sugar with two cups of water for ten minutes. If placed in a tightly sealed preserve jar and put in a cool place this syrup will keep for some time. Corn syrup or honey can also be used in all cold drinks in place of sugar, and makes perfect substitutes.

Summer Lemonade—This is a little different from the ordinary quickly made drink, but it is delicious and nourishing as well. Allow six lemons for one quart of water, squeeze out all the juice and stand aside. Use sugar syrup or boil the sugar and water together until they form a syrup, allowing one cup of sugar to one quart of water. At the time of serving stir in some well beaten eggs, one to every three glasses is the measure. If you have a lemonade shaker turn it into that and shake hard for a few minutes and then pour over crushed ice and serve.

Boring from Within

Hoover Relief for Russia Seen as Opportunity to Assault Soviet System From Inside; Outside Assault Has Failed

FORMAL notification by Herbert Hoover to Walter L. Brown, European director of the American Relief Administration, to proceed from London to Riga to open negotiations with the Russian government for American famine relief work in Russia, may mark the turning of the tide of American official policy toward Russia.

Thus far the American government has attacked Russia's working class republic from without. Its attacks have resulted only in the unification of revolutionary Russia behind the Communist administration to defy all foreign invasions.

Now comes the great opportunity to undermine the Communists from within Russia, through the distribution of food and medicines to millions of famine sufferers through American agents and with a display of the superior efficiency of the American capitalistic organization over the Russian communist organization in meeting this particular emergency.

It is not forgotten in Washington that Hoover's agents in Hungary undermined the Bela Kun regime, nor that they were equally active in preventing communist revolutions in the other countries of Central Europe. Whatever the plans of Hoover, his following contains great numbers of people who count upon him to somehow spring a surprise attack on the Moscow government.

As Bela Kun is in Moscow, and is in close touch with the situation, it may be assumed that Lenin and Kameneff are likewise bearing in mind the political work of Hoover's organization, and are preparing to see that Hoover's pledge to abstain from propaganda against the Russian government is faithfully observed.

Vast quantities of American foodstuffs and medicines and clothing will now be gathered by the American Relief Administration and shipped to Russia for distribution. Appeals in the name of common humanity will be issued, the effects of years of propaganda of inhumanity and hatred toward the Russian must be overcome, and gradually the whole American nation must be mobilized to give to save the Russian people from a calamity which could easily have been met had not the United States and its allies blockaded the Russian people for the past four years.

The quick release of American prisoners in Russia, when the request for their release took on an official character through the visit of Senator France and the note from Hoover to Gorky, has made a favorable impression in Washington. There is a growing body of opinion that the resumption of trade relations with Russia, and final recognition of the Russian Socialist Federated Soviet Republic, will develop from the better understanding which must follow the dealings of the Relief Administration with Moscow.

But there is no division of opinion on the main issue—that American capitalism will fight to the last, by force or by trick and device, to destroy the Russian experiment in the socialization of industries. It will lose no opportunity to discredit and slander the Russian system, whose success would imperil capitalism everywhere. Fighting for its life, American capitalism will not overlook any desperate chance in Russia to remove this peril.

It may be that American capitalism will feel so encouraged by what Hoover does in this famine relief enterprise that it will consent to commercial and political dealings with the Russian government, through formal treaties, in order that capitalist propaganda may the more effectively be carried to the Russian peasants. On the other hand, it may be that its decision will be to avoid any further contact with Russia, hoping in this way to force a counter-revolution. Either decision will have as its basis the hatred of industrial democracy.

A PROBABLE ANSWER

AS laughable a thing as we have seen for some time is the notion given out by some morning newspapers in New York that the mysterious disappearance of certain ships at sea is due to pirates operating under direction of the soviet government of Russia says The Freeman.

We remember so well the time when anything unusual and striking, especially any misfortune resulting from the incompetence or misfeasance of some blockhead in the service of the allies, was played up with awe as due to the superhuman and malevolent craft of the Germans.

The country had enough of this sort of tosh dished up to it every morning to make a cat forsake her kittens.

For our part, we recommend looking up the insurance policies of those missing ships. This may sound like ribald cynicism, but we offer in extenuation two facts:

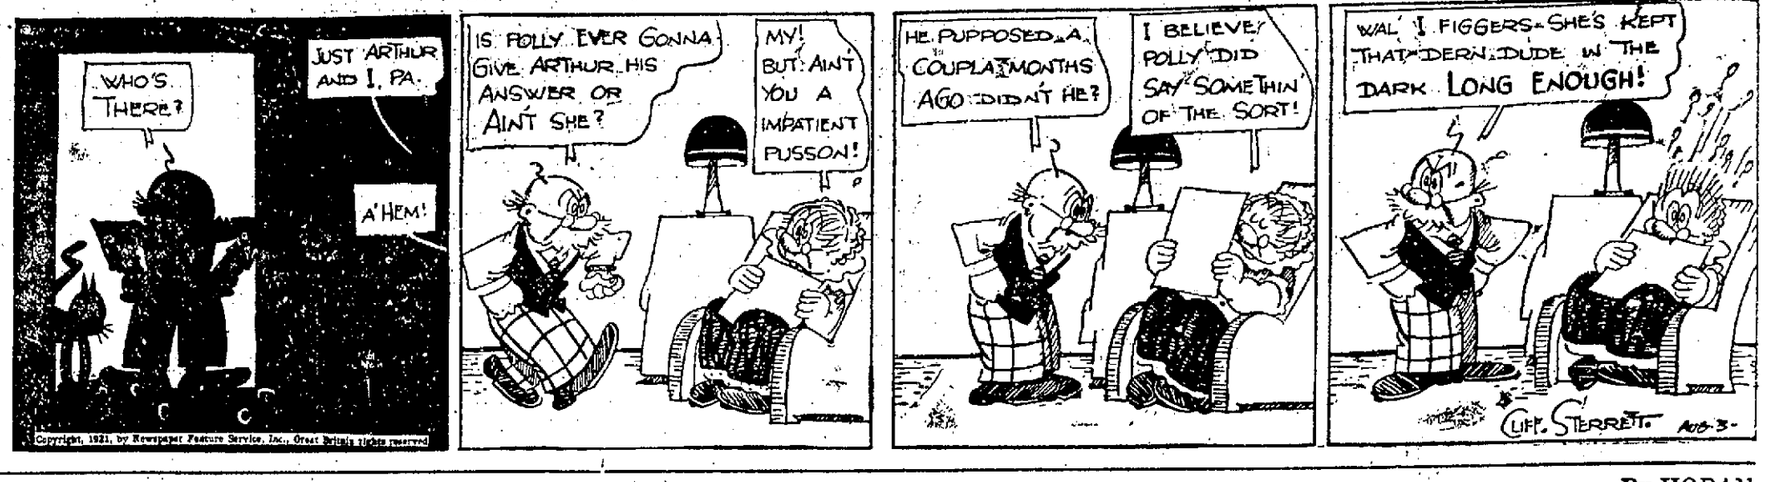

First, the recent report from Lloyd's, showing that at present, under certain circumstances and with proper management, there is a deal more money in a dead ship than in a live one.

Second, that when our government or our newspapers get up a hue and cry about bolshevism, they do it to divert attention from some uncommonly messy piece of rascality.

Anti-sovietism, these days, is the last refuge of a scoundrel, and right funny it is sometimes to see them take to it, as in the present case of these missing ships. Avast with such nonsense!

PRESS COMMENT

THE CASE OF SMALL

"I repeat, the sole question that Mr. Small has to answer to the people of Illinois is—did he place $10,000,000 of the people's money in a fictitious bank for the profit of himself or associates in violation of the laws of this state? That's the only question the governor has to answer, and all camouflaging about politics, tax dodgers, and persecution will not abate the ultimate question—did Small commit a crime as charged?"

Those are the words of the attorney general of the state of Illinois, and they apparently summarize quite effectually the situation as regards the case of Governor Small.

A grand jury has voted indictments against the executive. The charge is the manipulation of ten millions of the state funds in a manner not calculated for the best financial interests of the state of Illinois.

The issue now is merely that of all criminal prosecutions—guilt or innocence. It aparently can be arrived at in only one way, and that the usual way—of making twelve men the final arbiters.

The state records of the disposition of state funds over the period in dispute ought to constitute the primary testimony.

If they have disappeared, as has been stated, a further explanation and further proceedings in investigation are due the patient people of the state of Illinois.—Oshkosh Northwestern.

ACTION NEEDED

At the risk of being called a pessimist we are going to again call attention to the urgent need for action in working out a program that will relieve the existing and increasing unemployment.

Not less than five million wage-earners are denied an opportunity to sell their labor. At least fifteen million human beings are dependent on the five million for their subsistence. That means that one-sixth of the population of the United State are facing immediate privation and want and ultimate STARVATION.

Such a situation calls for ACTION.

Words will not suffice. Procrastination will only add to the horror.

It is incumbent on those who now control industry and the government to set themselves to the task of furnishing employment to these eager hands. Except that this responsibility is squarely faced and an intelligent effort made to work out a REAL solution, troublt is in store for every citizen of this land.

It is unthinkable that in a country so rich in natural resources as this one is should find itself face to face with a vast army of starving unemployed.

This is a clear indictment of inefficiency against the managers of industry. It is also conclusive proof that the system of production for profit invariably fails whenever unusual strains are put upon it.

Now is the time to take steps looking to relief for the unemployed. It will not do to wait until winter weather has added its terrors to the already heavy burden of misery that must be the lot of those denied an opportunity to work.—Seattle Union Record.

A QUICK CHANGE

The most rapid warming up on record was that experienced by a lady aviator who dropped something over fifteen thousand feet in a few minutes the other day and from a temperature of ten below to ninety-eight above.—Wausau Record-Herald.

NEED IMPROVEMENT

Practice makes perfect, and considerable improvement is reported in the art of making moonshine that won't kill you on sight—Milwaukee Sentinel.

MAYBE THEY HAVE

Must be that the bank bandits have been reading the papers. Else how would they know that Wisconsin banks are so plentifully supplied with ready cash.—Oshkosh Northwestern.

COME EARLY

The number of male persons in the United States is considerably larger than the number of females, according to the last census. With a shortage of girls and widows officially stated, men not mated should get theirs early and avoid the rush.—Superior Telegram.

OMIT ONE POINT

The state board of health issues a valuable little pamphlet full of information how to enjoy your vacation, but omits the highly essential point about where to get the money to do it with.—Milwaukee Sentinel.

MILK PRICES

"Milk selling for three cents a quart," says a headline. But a perusal of the item shows that it is at Watertown where all this is happening. We thought there must be some catch in it.—Menominee Herald.

MERELY A CAVE MAN

A University of Paris professor intelligently observes that Dempsey could have beaten Napoleon in a purely physical and personal combat, which is true. A champion prize fighter is merely a cave-man come back.—Sheboygan Press.

ON THE SIDE

A DIRGE OF HOT DOGS

No greater tragedy e'er did I see,
No greater calamity may there e'er be,
Than the woeful tale I relate to thee.

The train was moving at immenso speed;
The dog beside the track it did not heed,
But galloped ahead against this mastiff breed.

The engineer once struck his bell,
Then hit the dog and sent it off to h——;
It gave one shriek and then infinite spell.

Now whene'er I pass the butcher store
The sausages that hang along the door
Bring memories of that dog of yore. —Abraham Katz.

In my literary research work among the smaller newspapers of the country I came across the following in a paper published in Skowhegan, Me. These were published under the heading of "Society Notes," which shows that society is only relative after all:

Miss Florilly Moody spent last week with her friend Percy Richardson of Harmony.

Letters from Miss Loesa Tibbetts, who is now employed as waitress at Belgrade Lakes, states that she likes her present location very much.

Harry Wells and family wish to thank the Ladies' Aid for sewing and all others, while Mrs. Wells was in the hospital with blood poisoning.

Nellie, the little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Green of Madison, was operated on for appendicitis last Monday. It was a pus case.

Newspapers are influenced by the environment in which they happen to be published. I have seen a native of Skowhegan read items like the above without the slightest symptom of a smile.

Miss Cootie Fly has just been married in San Francisco. Changing the name under such circumstances can hardly be censured.

TO THE WORKER

All glory to you! Be it brain or brawn,
Or both, that moves you to create
While others dawdle, fearful of their fate;
You strive to enter the enchanted gate
That leads to God and mankind's final dawn!
All glory to you You shall and will arrive
While those who stall are only half alive. —Gus Hanisch.
